Course Description and Objectives

Does God exist? Why live? What should you do with your life? In this course, we'll be asking some of these deep philosophical questions. We will begin by examining two classic arguments for the existence of God as well as concerns that God's existence is incompatible with the existence of evil. In the second part of the course, we will ask what determines the moral character of our actions. Do the ends justify the means? We will also ask whether living morally is the same as living a full and meaningful life. In this final part of the course, we will discuss the meaning of life, especially why some philosophers have connected a meaningful life with God's existence.

Learning Objectives

Upon completing this course, students will be able to (i) read philosophical texts, (ii) clearly and charitably explain viewpoints that are not their own, (iii) think critically and philosophically, (iv) write well-structured prose in which they clearly state a thesis and persuasively defend it, (v) demonstrate an understanding of several core philosophical topics.
